Dear Hans,

Upon my return from speaking engagements in Europe and Russia, I was greeted by your interesting letter.

Thank you for your kind words --- I happily remember your visit to our Schole and your enriching lecture and your photo poetry.

I was a student of Frederick Mayer and studied philosophy with him at UCLA. He was and remains a great blessing in my life.

I find it interesting that Frederick Mayer never told me that he joined the Bahá'í religion. We admire your belief that like Black Elk, "All paths lead back to the center," and like the Vedas, "Truth is one, sages call it by many names."

To clarify my belief and point of departure concerning the spiritual and my admiration of all religions, in the definitive sense of the word religion --- please see attached. You may want to visit our website at www.wilhelmschole.org. Perhaps the Bahá'ís would like to join our Global Golden Rule Movement. Other collaborators are the United Religions Initiative ( 76 countries ) and the Interfaith Peace-Building Initiative ( 85 countries ).

With all good wishes,

Marilyn Wilhelm
